La scrittrice abita qui Neri Pozza Editore Un po' pellegrinaggio e un po' seduta spiritica, questo libro porta dalla Sardegna di Grazia Deledda all'America di Marguerite Yourcenar, dalla Francia di Colette all'Oriente di Alexandra David-Néel, dall'Africa alla Danimarca di Karen Blixen, all'Inghilterra di Virginia Woolf. Un lunghissimo viaggio in case-museo che, attraverso mobili e suppellettili, stanze e giardini raccontano la storia sentimentale delle più significative scrittrici del Novecento. Da Parigi alla Provenza, dal Kenya al Maine, da Copenhagen al Tibet, Sandra Petrignani le cerca nei loro oggetti, interroga i loro diari, la poltrona in cui si sedevano, il portafortuna da cui non si separavano, ma anche (in alcuni casi) le persone che ancora conservano un ricordo vivo di loro. Così il viaggio, concretissimo, diventa favoloso, un giro del mondo dove a ogni tappa è come se le protagoniste in persona aprissero la porta e svelassero sottovoce i segreti della vita coniugale e di passioni travolgenti, i nodi edipici e le fragilità che le hanno rese grandi scrittrici, ma anche donne tremendamente vulnerabili. E alle loro vicende s'intrecciano quelle dei loro uomini e delle loro amiche, in un caleidoscopio di presenze, da Vanessa Bell a Katherine Mansfield a Natalie Clifford Barney (l'«Amazzone») a Vita Sackville-West, che hanno contribuito a fare del Novecento un secolo legendario. Le mele nel tinello della Yourcenar e il suo cane ancora vivo, il tempio tibetano ricreato a Digne dalla David-Néel o la stanza chiusa che fu sua nel monastero del Sikkim dove si ritirò in meditazione, la Barbaglia della Deledda con le fate e i folletti che influenzarono la sua fantasia, il grammofono della Blixen portato con sé dalla sua Africa in ricordo dell'uomo che aveva amato e perduto per sempre...Sandra Petrignani ascolta «la voce delle cose» e la traduce nelle affascinanti storie di questo libro. La scrittrice abita qui La città dell'amore Alla scoperta di Cagliari con Grazia Deledda Palabanda Edizioni Si parla pochissimo di Cagliari Belle Époque, invece era una città meravigliosa, culturalmente viva e proiettata verso l'Europa. Anche la scrittrice premio Nobel, Grazia Deledda, che tra il 1899 e il 1900, per il suo lavoro di giornalista, era a Cagliari, non potè restare indifferente alla bellezza dei giochi di luce, dalla gente cordiale e allegra, dall'atmosfera che si viveva in quegli anni. La città le rimase impressa a tal punto da dedicarle lo scritto "Cagliari", apparso sulla rivista "Natura e Arte" nel maggio del 1900, e che viene riproposto in questa guida su Cagliari insieme al breve racconto autobiografico "Il Velo Azzurro". La biblioteca dei libri proibiti Garzanti «Coinvolgente... la forza della lettura può, a volte, salvare la vita.» Glamour New England, 1891. È notte fonda ormai. Nell'antica dimora di Blithe House regnano il silenzio e l'oscurità. Per Florence, giovane orfana di dodici anni, è finalmente giunto il momento che ogni giorno aspetta con ansia. Attenta a non far rumore, sale le scale ed entra nella vecchia biblioteca. Nella grande stanza abitata dalla polvere e dall'abbandono ci sono gli unici amici che le tengano davvero compagnia, i libri. Libri proibiti per Florence. Non potrebbe nemmeno toccarli: da sempre le è vietato leggere. Così le ha imposto lo zio che l'ha allevata insieme al fratellino Giles. Un uomo misterioso, che l'ha condannata a vivere confinata in casa insieme alla servitù. Ma Florence è furba e determinata e ha imparato a leggere da sola. Ha intuito che nei libri è racchiusa la strada per la libertà. Perché proprio in quella biblioteca, tra i vecchi volumi di Sir Walter Scott, Jane Austen, Charles Dickens, George Eliot e Shakespeare, si nasconde un segreto che affonda le radici in un passato legato a doppio filo alla morte dei suoi genitori. Una terribile verità che, notte dopo notte, getta ombre sempre più inquietanti sulla vita di tutti. Strani episodi iniziano a sconvolgere la dimora. Prima la morte violenta e inspiegabile di una delle governanti, poi l'arrivo della nuova istitutrice del fratellino, una donna dura, che odia Florence con tutta sé stessa. Per la ragazza camminare per i corridoi della casa è sempre più pericoloso. Deve essere astuta e stare attenta a tutto, al minimo scricchiolio del legno, a un soffio di vento, agli occhi che la fissano sinistri dai dipinti. La verità ora è una questione di vita o di morte. E per trovarla Florence avrà bisogno delle parole che si annidano nei libri e dell'anima oscura che si nasconde in lei. Un romanzo indimenticabile. In corso di pubblicazione in tutto il mondo, ha entusiasmato i lettori e ha incantato la critica, diventando ben presto uno dei casi letterari più commentati della stagione. Sullo sfondo di atmosfere magiche e inquietanti, John Harding racconta una storia di misteri e bugie, di verità oscure e di speranze inattese in cui la forza della lettura e dei libri forse, a volte, può persino salvare la vita. Marguerite Yourcenar una narrazione ancora parlante Apeiron Editori The Toy Catalogue Lecture Il catalogo dei giocattoli Neri Pozza Editore «Un incantevole esercizio di leggerezza». Ian McEwan «Un catalogo di giocattoli non è inevitabilmente un libro di struggenti rievocazioni infantili; come i pupi siciliani, le marionette, i giocattoli costituiscono un mondo alternativo, un cosmo meraviglioso e impossibile, un insieme di gesti, di riti, di formule magiche». Giorgio Manganelli «Tra i libri italiani che ho letto in questi anni, Il catalogo dei giocattoli di Sandra Petrigiani mi sembra tra i pochissimi che mostrino una ricerca in proprio con le parole». Oggi le persone si stimano e si rispettano in base al loro grado di utilità materiale da rendere agli altri e non, invece, al loro valore intrinseco ed estrinseco intellettuale. Per questo gli inutili sono emarginati o ignorati. Biblioteca tirolese, o sia Memorie storiche degli scrittori della contea del Tirolo Jinrikisha Days in Japan The Fandom Chicken House Violet's in her element - cosplay at the ready, she can't wait to feel part of her favourite fandom: 'The Gallows Dance', a mega book and movie franchise. Clifford documents the twists and turns of China's dramatic and unforeseen rise over the last four decades. He sheds light on the delicate and fragile balance of forces at the heart of the success of China's hybrid model, explaining how the ruling Communist Party boldly led the nation's economic reforms as the surest way to preserve its grip on political power. Five years after this book was first published, much has changed within China and in its relationship with the world. This second edition provides extensive fresh new material. It explains how China has raised its game, moving from a catch-up mode to technological innovation in some areas, while still languishing in technology dependence in other respects. Earlier, China had shown signs that its driving spirit was faltering with its sails flapping. Under Xi Jinping, renewed energy has been injected. But at the same time Xi and his party have strongly reinforced their control across society and the economy, posing the question of whether Xi's New Era in fact marks a retreat from the reforms. This second edition contains two new chapters. One profiles Huawei, a national champion in advanced technology. Another focuses on China's frictions with the world which have been fueled by a perception that its technology progress threatens US global dominance, coupled with China's human rights record. In addition, against a background of the challenges faced by Alibaba and other firms, there is analysis of this watershed in China's private sector's autonomy. There is also extensive new insight into Xi Jinping's rule. As it celebrates its 100th anniversary in 2021, the Chinese Communist Party displays strong optimism over its continued governance of China. But that should not mask the longer-term risks to China's development and stability if its hybrid model continues to unravel as reforms are abandoned in favor of heightened autocracy.

"Let the wicked be ashamed, and let them be silent in the grave." These ominous words are the last threat that Sir Edward Grey receives from his killer. Before he can show them to Nicholas Brisbane, the private inquiry agent he has retained for his protection, he collapses and dies at his London home, in the presence of his wife, Julia, and a roomful of dinner guests. Prepared to accept that Edward's death was due to a long-standing physical infirmity, Julia is outraged when Brisbane visits and suggests that her husband was murdered. It is a reaction she comes to regret when she discovers damning evidence for herself, and realizes the truth. Determined to bring the murderer to justice, Julia engages the enigmatic Brisbane to help her investigate Edward's demise. The Italians Penguin UK The 'fatal charm of Italy' has held Lord Byron – and millions of tourists ever since – in its spell. Yet, beneath 'the brilliant and vivacious surface', what are the realities of Italian life? Few writers have ever painted a portrait of their compatriots as crisp, frank and fearless as Luigi Barzini's. Cutting through the familiar clichés, he instructs us with a cascade of anecdotes and provides a marvellous guided tour through centuries of history. He examines Machiavelli and Mussolini, popes, pilgrims and prostitutes, cliques and conspiracies, Casanova and the crippling power of the Church. Yet alongside the Baroque exuberance and spectacular display, the love of life and the life of love, he also shows us a divided nation, injustice, ignorance, poverty and fear. All this is Italy, a country of dazzling achievement and an uncanny aptitude for getting round problems; both its virtues and its vices are celebrated in this sparkling book Conversational Italian for Travelers Just the Grammar If you are a teacher or student of Italian, you need this reference book! All the Italian grammar you need to know is set out in clear language with easy-to-read, color coded tables. Like the textbook from which it is derived, Just the Grammar focuses on the conversational use of Italian, with detailed explanations made interesting and fun by focusing on travel situations. Italian definite articles, nouns, adjectives, adverbs, possessive adjectives, object pronouns, the partitive and cognates are covered, with emphasis on Italian sentence structure and realistic examples from daily life. Also find excerpts from the "Numbers," "Verbs" and "Idiomatic Expressions" sections of the Conversational Italian for Travelers textbook. As a complete work in and of itself, this book makes learning Italian grammar really come alive! Gli atti del convegno Memoria collettiva e memoria privata il ricordo della Shoah come politica sociale : Roma, 6-7 giugno 2007 Narratori di Sicilia Ugo Mursia Editore Tuttestorie Words in Air The Complete Correspondence Between Elizabeth Bishop and Robert Lowell Farrar, Straus and Giroux Robert Lowell once remarked in a letter to Elizabeth Bishop that "you ha[ve] always been my favorite poet and favorite friend." The feeling was mutual. Bishop said that conversation with Lowell left her feeling "picked up again to the proper table-land of poetry," and she once begged him, "Please never stop writing me letters—they always manage to make me feel like my higher self (I've been re-reading Emerson) for several days." Neither ever stopped writing letters, from their first meeting in 1947 when both were young, newly launched poets until Lowell's death in 1977. The substantial, revealing—and often very funny—interchange that they produced stands as a remarkable collective achievement, notable for its sustained conversational brilliance of style, its wealth of literary history, its incisive snapshots and portraits of people and places, and its delicious literary gossip, as well as for the window it opens into the unfolding human and artistic drama of two of America's most beloved and influential poets. Small narratives Tektime Small stories of ordinary people, to whom extraordinary events can happen (Free will, Macbeth: story of a madman), people who get lost in memories to find meaning in the present (The girl on the bus) or who still find nature in memories of human existence (Memories). A teacher (11th commandment: do not judge) and a mother (A mother) tell of daily life, with its pains and satisfactions, misunderstanding, but also the miracle of finding acceptance in the hearts of others. In What must happen ... it happens we find ourselves having to deal with the impossibility of predicting destiny and in Black & White life is observed from the point of view of our animals. The eight short stories in this collection are in the name of George Eliot's thought contained in the epigraph: just as there are great personalities in the world, there are also ordinary people deserving as much attention. People like you, like me, like everyone. The opening story, Black and White, portrays the lives of two playmates who seem mismatched, a dog, White, and a cat, Black. In reality they are two wonderful beings who love, suffer, are grateful, spiteful, live unaware of the enormous gift they give to their human "parents" simply by existing.

The little girl on the bus has a slow start, then suddenly turns and goes back through the years, to when the protagonist was a child, to an episode that deeply marked her emotionally, whose memory is not so much visual as internal and affective. The very nature of this memory brings the narrative to very intimate levels, in which still unresolved traits of her personality are revealed. Free will is a gothic tale: a cursed mirror, the devil, wickedness as an end in itself, unbelieving victims. Everything happens without a reason, as if to say that evil exists and can dispose of human beings at will. Macbeth. Story of a madman is built in the footsteps of Shakespearean tragedy, it is set in the world of theater, the names of the main characters are the original ones, the manias, obsessions and distorted passion are the same as the mad regicide. After all, the fantastic has an important part in Macbeth: the three witches enunciate prophecies that will make the brave soldier mad. Even in the story, the fantastic folds to itself the destinies of the protagonists who play their lives on the most futile of human feelings: ambition as an end in itself. Memories is a delicate journey in the narrator's mind, in a moment of solitude, in which she gets lost in thoughts that are unrelated to each other, which nevertheless have a common theme: the nature of memories and how much of ourselves is a matter to remember. A bit of melancholy, but also of sustained hope and vivacity of thought underlie the inner confession, in which it is not difficult to identify. 11th commandment: do not judge tells the world of school with disillusionment: misunderstanding, jealousy of one's role, indulgence towards parents and students, today the "clients", break the balance of a good teacher who is also a nun. Such are the sadness, the disappointment that the protagonist suffers that these feelings empathically penetrate the reader, and their power is equal to the abandonment of hope in a better world. Not all stories, like life, can have a happy ending. A mother introduces a note of joy. A common school interview becomes an opportunity for mutual growth between the mother and the teacher. Two women with a strong and combative character, surprised by the unusually confidential tone that the conversation assumes, together try to find a way to convey safety and serenity to the people they love and who are experiencing a moment of confusion. The mother understands how to measure herself against her own limits, and consequently the teacher becomes fully aware of the dozens of individuals in a class, of which she often knows very little, but which each have their own moods. The teacher Translator: Francesca Orelli PUBLISHER: TEKTIME L'illustrazione italiana Worst in Show Candlewick Press (MA) Excitedly entering his beloved companion in the Best Pet Monster in the World Competition, young Albert wonders if Sidney will prove to be the smelliest, dirtiest and most parasite-ridden monster of them all. Il Palazzo Medici Riccardi di Firenze Giunti Editore Let Them Eat Chaos Bloomsbury Publishing USA Kate Tempest's powerful narrative poem--set to music on her album of the same title, shortlisted for the Mercury Music Prize--illuminates the lives of a single city street, creating an electric, humming human symphony. Let Them Eat Chaos, Kate Tempest's long poem written for live performance and heard on the album release of the same name, is both a powerful sermon and a moving play for voices. Seven neighbors inhabit the same London street, but are all unknown to each other. The clock freezes in the small hours, and one by one we see directly into their lives: lives that are damaged, disenfranchised, lonely, broken, addicted, and all, apparently, without hope. Then a great storm breaks over

London, and brings them out into the night to face each other, giving them one last chance to connect. Tempest argues that our alienation from one another has bred a terrible indifference to our own fate, but she counters this with a plea to challenge the forces of greed which have conspired to divide us, and mend the broken home of our own planet while we still have time. Let Them Eat Chaos is a cri de cœur, a call to action, and a powerful poetic statement.
